MEMORANDUM

Plaintiff, Jeffrey Thelemann, was employed with the Le Sueur County Sheriff's Department from March 1991 to June 24, 2020. In conjunction with his employment with Defendant, Le Sueur County, Plaintiff is a member of the Public Employees Retirement Association (aka PERA) and eligible to receive a pension. Throughout his employment, both Plaintiff and Defendant contributed to Plaintiff's pension.

On or about December 14, 2017 through May 28, 2018, Plaintiff went on a leave of absence as allowed under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA). This leave was authorized. Plaintiff alleges Defendant did not report Plaintiff's leave to PERA until more than a year following the end of the leave. As a result, Plaintiff's salary was reduced because of and during his leave of absence. Furthermore, Defendant did not notify the Plaintiff that Plaintiff's high-five salary may be potentially impacted by the reduction of the salary. The high-five salary is based on when the employee's salary was the greatest for a consecutive 60 month period.

On or about January 17, 2020, Plaintiff met with a PERA representative to formalize plans for retirement. At this meeting, Plaintiff learned that Defendant failed to notify PERA of his FMLA leave, which in turn, impacted Plaintiff's high-five salary for retirement. Plaintiff was also never notified of his ability to purchase salary credits to make his salary whole.

Plaintiff retired on June 24, 2020. Plaintiff's high-five salary was calculated using his 2013-2017 earnings. Because Plaintiff did not purchase salary credit for 2018, it impacted his ability to use 2018 and 2019 earnings as part of his high-five salary. Plaintiff's 2019 annual earnings were his highest year of earnings. Plaintiff asserts his monthly retirement benefit is approximately $300 less per month.

In accordance with MINN. R. CIV. P. 12.02(e), the court must dismiss a cause of action if it fails to articulate a legally sufficient basis entitling the plaintiff to relief. A claim is legally sufficient "if it is possible on any evidence which might be produced, consistent with the pleader's theory, to grant the relief demanded." Abel v. Abbott Nw. Hosp., 947 N.W.2d 58, 68 (Minn. 2020), quoting Walsh v. U.S. Bank, N.A., 851 N.W.2d 598, 603 (Minn. 2014). "The reviewing court must consider only the facts alleged in the complaint, accepting those facts as true and must construe all reasonable inferences in favor of the nonmoving party.” Id., quoting Bodah v. Lakeville Motor Express, Inc., 663 N.W.2d 550, 553 (Minn. 2003).

“[A] court should construe the complaint to allow the plaintiff’s claim to go forward unless there is no way to construe the alleged facts—and the inferences drawn from those facts—in support of the plaintiff’s claim.” Hansen v. U. S. Bank Nat’l Ass’n, 934 N.W.2d 319, 326 (Minn. 2019). But the Court would note a plaintiff is not required to “allege facts and every element of a cause of action.” Abel at 78, quoting N. States Power Co. v. Franklin, 265 Minn. 391, 395, 122 N.W.2d 26, 29 (1963), (“No longer is a pleader required to allege facts and every element of a cause of action. A claim is sufficient against a motion to dismiss based on Rule 12.02(5) if it is possible on any evidence which might be produced, consistent with the pleader’s theory, to grant the relief demanded.”)

“The basic elements of a negligence claim are: (1) existence of a duty of care; (2) breach of that duty; (3) proximate causation; and (4) injury. Abel at 77, quoting Bjerke v. Johnson, 742 N.W.2d 660, 664 (Minn. 2007). Plaintiff’s complaint alleges facts that would support his claim for negligence. Plaintiff’s claim must go forward. Upon review of the complaint and the arguments asserted by counsel, the Court cannot grant the Defendant’s motion to dismiss.
